

Vocabulary 圖解詞語

1. seize (v.): to mentally grasp

例句: It's time to seize the day and make the most of it!

例句: We should all seize the moment and enjoy!

seizure (n.)	seize the day
	seize (v.)
	seize the moment

- seizure (n.): legal process of taking possession of a person or a property

例句: This property is protected from illegal seizure.

2. adapt (v.): to adjust

例句: Children can adapt to a new environment faster than adults.

adaptability (n.)	adapt to	adaptive (adj.)
adaptation (n.)	adapt (v.)

- adaptability (n.): an ability to adjust to the given situation

例句: We should demonstrate our adaptability when we visit other countries.

- adaptation (n.): an act of making adjustments

例句: Accepting local culture can be a form of adaptation to a new environment.

- adaptive (adj.): capable of adapting

例句: Some animals are more adaptive to different climates than others.

3. strike (v.): to hit or attack

例句: Tsunami can strike any minute.

例句: He struck a chair with his fist. [struck= past tense of strike]

--	--	--

	strike (v.)	strike (n.)
	strike a balance

- strike a balance: to find a compromise

例句: We should strike a balance between studying and relaxing.

- strike (n.): an act of refusing to work as an act of protest

例句: The hotel workers' strike lasted for a week.

